Blue Highway Games would love to sponsor a Game Night at your school.

A games night is a great way to raise enthusiasm for math. Kids have a blast and don't focus on the fact that they are using math skills while playing. It introduces parents to new games, and builds community by getting families to play together.

We will partner with the PTA or other group to put on an event at your school. This typically is open house style where we set up games in the cafeteria and families can try a number of games during the evening.

- ✓ No minimum purchase fee or up front costs.
- ✓ We provide a library of games that can be used during the event.
- ✓ We help run games and train parents and volunteers to help
- ✓ We sell the same games that people are playing and donate 10% back to the school.

The school just needs to provide:

- ✓ A place to play (typically the cafeteria)
- ✓ Parent volunteers to help run games

We will work with you to customize the event to match your needs. We can focus on math specifically or broaden to include reading and geography. In general we suggest games that meet the following criteria:

- Games that are easy to learn and quick to play
- Games that are fun, but that have an educational component
- A variety of games for different ages
- Some familiar games and some that will be new to people
- Some games that people can sit down and do on their own and some that work best if there is a volunteer to help explain the rules.

Our library of games and puzzles includes these and more:
